BOARD READY FOR FLOOD OF VOTES

Dewey Big Favorite; Senate In Doubt

Nominees Both Talk Tonight

Make Final Vote Pleas

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

NEW YORK—(INS)—The American people are ready today to show a strife-torn world how to use ballots instead of force to order a new national administration into power.

In a shining demonstration of how democracy works, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is an overwhelming favorite to win the presidency from President Truman in Tuesday's national election.

At the same time, the electorate will choose a new House of Representatives, 32 senators, 31 governors and a host of state officials.

Dewey should win a minimum of 27 states, having 337 electors. He is ahead in two more, with 12 electors, and might win four more. President Truman has eight states, with 89 electors. Gov. Strom Thurmond, the States' Righter, has four states and two other electors for a total of 40. Henry Agard Wallace, Progressive nominee, is an also-ran.

Dewey will bring a new Republican-controlled House into power with him and a Republican Senate too, even though the GOP might have to use the vote of their vice president, Earl Warren, to break a senatorial tie.

Both President Truman and Dewey will make their final appeals to the voters by radio tonight. Dewey, after resting most of the day at his farm near Pawling, N. Y., will motor to New York City for a broadcast from there at 9 p. m. EST.

The President, after attending a Red Cross breakfast, a luncheon, a Shrine parade and a dinner in Kansas City during the day, will speak over all four networks from his home in Independence, Mo., at 10:30 p. m. EST.

Sixty-three million citizens have qualified to participate in Tuesday's balloting. Experts believe, however, that only fifty million of them actually will go to the polls.

DEWEY 'SHOO-IN'

Dewey is considered a shoo-in for the presidency. He appears to have sewn up California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kan-

Israelites Smash Arabs

HAIFA—(UP)—United Nations truce headquarters reported today that Israeli troops have captured all of Galilee in northern Palestine and have pushed on across the frontier to seize a town in Lebanon.

The gains, estimated at 500 square miles by Jewish sources, were achieved in a two-day campaign, truce headquarters reported. A spokesman said United Nations observers on the Lebanese side said Israeli troops crossed the frontier into Lebanon a few hours before the United Nations cease-fire deadline expired at noon Greenwich time Sunday.

The Jews captured the village of Marun Er Ras, one mile inside Lebanon, and at last reports were advancing on Bint Jubeil, two miles inside Lebanon, these sources said.

Other observers crossing Galilee in white-painted jeeps said they saw no signs of fighting in Palestine proper after the deadline.

WATER PROGRAM PLANNED

YOUNGSTOWN —(INS)— Federal funds soon will be sought to aid in a water conservation program planned to insure adequate industrial and domestic supplies and to ease flood dangers in the Mahoning river valley.

Ohio Race Baffles Surveys

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Polltakers claim they know about how you will vote tomorrow for president, but for governor Ohioans have them baffled.

The race between Republican Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and his Democratic predecessor, Frank J. Lausche, stole the show from presidential and other election contests in this nominally GOP state.

Surveys disagree on the Herbert-Lausche outcome. They indicate it may be a Republican sweep, or a repetition of 1944. That year Ohio favored Dewey's unsuccesesful bid for president, but elected a Democratic governor — Lausche.

Heavy registrations have boosted the eligible voter total to about 4,500,000. The secretary of state forecast a record vote of 3,500,000, topping the 1940 high of 3,376,000.

Herbert this year ignored GOP requests for legislative fusion of the national and state ballots on grounds it might look like a bid to ride Dewey's "coat tails."

STANDS ON RECORD

He chose to stand on a 15-plank administrative record and asserted Lausche became "part and parcel of the New Deal" by his endorsement of Truman.

Herbert claims include an $86,000,000 tax reduction; extra funds for schools, local governments, welfare operation, and old age pensions; bonuses for War II veterans, Ohio's first strip mine control law, liquor reforms and action to end labor strife endangering public safety.

The latter entailed calling out the National Guard during CIO strike disturbances at the Univis Lens company in Dayton last summer.

Lausche in campaign talks disputed Herbert's claims and said many major administration acts were begun by himself and only continued by Republicans.

Solon Shift Doubtful

Taft-Hartley Act Swings Labor Vote

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Organized labor, aroused over enactment of the Taft-Hartley law, has thrown heavy support behind the Democratic candidates for Congress in Ohio's election tomorrow.

But veteran political observers generally look for little change in the state's present congressional representation of 19 Republicans and four Democrats.

If there is an upset, the observers feel, the Democrats are most likely to benefit. One district, the third (Dayton), reports especially strong Democratic sentiment.

Other districts in which the Democratic candidates are generally credited with a fighting chance are the 6th (Portsmouth), 9th (Toledo), 15th (Marietta), 16th (Canton), and the 18th (Steubenville). Republicans insist their candidate in the 14th Akron) district has a chance of unseating the incumbent Democrat.

Meanwhile representation changes will cut down the size of the new Ohio legislature to be elected tomorrow, thereby paring the expected Republican majority.

Only a landslide could give the Republicans the same edge they acquired in the 1947-48 assembly. The GOP put 123 members in the present House of Representatives and 32 in the Senate, compared with 16 Democrats in the house and four Democrats in the Senate.

The 1949-50 legislature will have seven less members than the present one—135 against 139 in the house, and 33 against 36 in the senate. The reduction is caused by changes in representation to conform with shifts in population.

Americans Warned to Evacuate

Fear Spread of Chinese Battle

NANKING — (INS) — American citizens were warned to evacuate northern China today as communist troops appeared on the verge of overrunning Manchuria.

The warning came from the U. S. embassy in Nanking.

The threatened spread of civil war followed the Chinese government's virtual loss of Manchuria. Mukden, the queen city of Manchuria, is awaiting occupation by victorious communist troops.

Hundreds of Americans living in north China were told in the circular letter from the embassy:

"The military situation in north China appears to indicate that hostilities may spread to areas hitherto peaceful and that normal transportation facilities may be completely disrupted.

"Accordingly, American citizens should consider the desirability of evacuation at this time, while normal transportation facilities are still available."

An embassy spokesman said, meanwhile, that the last message received from U. S. Consul General Angus Ward at Mukden reported that the communist forces had not yet entered the nationalist-evacuated city.

Ward's message was timed at 7:30 o'clock this morning (4:30 p. m. Sunday, EST).

It came over the only means of communication known to exist between Mukden and nationalist China—the U. S. consular radio transmitter at the south Manchurian metropolis.

Earlier, the great industrial and communications center was described as a "no man's land," sprawling helplessly in the path of the communists after its principal remaining government units had fled.

Virtually cut off from communication with the outside world, Mukden's situation was obscure.

It appeared certain, however, that Chiang's government armies —including several trained and equipped by the Americans—had sustained perhaps their greatest defeat of China's three-year-old civil war.

Body Found On Car Seat

William Thomas Tose, 31, of Portsmouth, was found dead in an auto on East Temple court at 10 a. m. Sunday.

Richland County Coroner D. C. Lavender said he believed Tose died of natural causes, but that the death certificate was being withheld pending further investigation by police.

Officers said the dead man was reported by Henry Carmel, 112 North Adams street. The body was found wrapped in a blanket and lying on the back seat of a car owned by Sam Eicher, 118 East Temple court, who told police he had permitted Tose to sleep in his car.

Death was believed to have occurred between midnight Saturday and 9:40 a. m. Sunday.

A former employe of the Empire Steel corporation, Tose was born Dec. 31, 1916, in Portsmouth. He came to Mansfield four years ago, but he never established residence here, police said. He was unemployed.

Surviving are one son, Thomas Tose of Springfield; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Tose of Portsmouth; four brothers, Robert, Walter, Vincent and James Tose, also of Portsmouth, and five sisters, Mrs. C. E. Woods of Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. W. L. Manley of Columbus; Mrs. James Spriggs of Dayton, and the Misses Catherine and Patricia Tose at home.

The body was removed from the Finefrock funeral home today to Portsmouth where services and burial will be held Wednesday.

BOYS STAB USHER

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Police were still searching today for six boys who allegedly stabbed a 16-year-old usher and tossed a cuspidor through glass in an inner door of a Cleveland theater.

Mystery of Deaths In 'Smog' Deepens

DONORA, Pa.—(INS)—The Washington county coroner's office reported today that autopsies performed on two of the 20 victims of the Donora death smog showed no indication of toxic gases.

Coroner L. C. Gray described the deaths as "typical cardiac-asthma deaths" to heighten the mystery of what killed 20 of the town's elderly residents and hospitalized scores of others.

The atmosphere was clear today in Donora and officials said the plague appeared to have passed, as state and city health investigators opened a probe into the death-dealing smog.

Dr. William Rongaus, a member of the Donora board of health, blamed "something in the air" for the wave of deaths. He declared:

"It's murder, there's nothing else you can call it. There's something in the air here that isn't found elsewhere. There was fog in Monessen, too, but it didn't kill people there."

Dr. Rongaus said that although those who died were all elderly persons, many of those treated were "young and strong, and had never had any symptoms of asthma." He added:

"I treated many victims who never had any symptoms of asthma. Most of them on examination by the stethescope produced none of the usual sounds. All complained of severe pains in the lower chest. It seemed to me like a sort of partial paralysis of the diaphram."

Norbert Hockman, chemist with the Pittsburgh smoke prevention bureau, who accompanied Dr. I. Hope Alexander of the Pittsburgh board of health to Donora, said that there definitely was enough sulphur trioxide in the air to be toxic.

Hockman explained that sulphur dioxide coming in contact with air forms sulphur trioxide, a deadly gas.

Dr. Alexander warned that an outbreak of pneumonia may develop among those who had been exposed to the lethal smog.

A Pittsburgh chest specialist said, however, that density of the fog alone might have been responsible for the deaths. He pointed out that even normal amounts of smog or fog have been known to aggravate asthmatic conditions.

Masqueraders Hold Spotlight

Thousands to Jam City For Halloween Parade

Despite lack of cooperation from the weatherman, thousands of Mansfielders are expected to line the streets in the business district tonight to see the "Help Hunt Halloween" parade.

Hundreds of costumed Mansfielders and colorful floats will take part in the parade which will move through the business district at 7:30 p. m.

Nine bands will provide music for the marchers. Mansfield's four school bands, the Shelby Legion Drum corps, school bands from Galion, Loudonville, Leesville, and the Mt. Zion community band have indicated that they will appear in the parade.

The parade will form at Third and Mulberry streets, go north on Mulberry to Fourth, east on Fourth to Main, south on Main to Central park and past the reviewing stand opposite the Ohio Public Service offices.

Following the parade there will be a dance in the Coliseum with the proceeds to go to the children's home. Bill Leicy's orchestra will play for the dance.

A total of $200 in cash prizes will be awarded by Mrs. Ada Hunt Doerr, who is sponsoring the celebration.

Prizes for the best and most comic costumes in both juvenile and adult classes will be awarded to those marching in the parade and to those attending the dance.

BAND PRIZES OFFERED

A $20 prize will be awarded for the best float, $15 for the best dressed band, and $15 for the most comic band. There also will be a $20 prize for the largest organization in the parade.

Judges include Louis Them, T. M. Zerby and Richard W. Mumford.

Students at Senior high school will have a major part in the celebration, assisting Mrs. Doerr with the arrangements.

The senior class at Senior high school, or the "49'ers" will appear in frontier costumes, but a jeep rather than oxen will pull the float.

Plane Crash Kills Twelve

MULDROW, Okla. — (AP) — An Army airplane crashed near here today and 12 bodies were reported recovered from the wreckage.

Muldrow is in east Oklahoma, about 12 miles west of Fort Smith, Ark.

A reporter for the Fort Smith Times Record, who went to the scene, said the plane fell about a quarter of a mile north of Muldrow. He said five unidentified bodies had been removed and that it had not been determined whether there were other occupants of the craft.

The home base of the plane was not determined immediately.

ELYRIA — (AP) — Lee Reed, 65, died of automobile accident injuries yesterday and Driver Albert Latzo, 30, was charged with second degree manslaughter.

If Bond Issue Fails–

More Schools Face Half-Day Sessions

Expressing confidence that voters tomorrow will approve the $2,500,000 bond issue for completing the Mansfield school building program, W. R. Mabee, chairman of the volunteer bond issue committee, today pointed out that should the issue fail the result would be disastrous.

More and more city schools would be forced to adopt half-day sessions to accommodate the increasing number of pupils unless the bond proposal gets a 65% majority tomorrow, Mabee declared.

"Already some classes at West Fifth are working on half-day sessions," he said.

"In the event the issue fails, and in view of current enrollment increases and the additional increases that must follow the birth rate gains, many other schools in the city will be forced to go to half-day sessions in order to accommodate the pupils.

"Any parent who has had experience with this system knows that it is completely undesirable in every way. Children do not get the proper training. They get insufficient attention from their teachers, and insufficient supervision of their study time.

"However, there seems to be no other solution to the problem if we cannot construct the buildings we need so badly," Mabee said.

The chairman said he had also been asked on numerous occasions when construction would be started on the proposed new buildings in the event the bond issue passes.

"At the earliest possible moment," Mabee replied. "The school board is naturally more aware of the critical nature of the situation than anyone else. I can assure the general public that the entire program will be undertaken as rapidly as it is possible to do so."

Concluding his review of the school situation and the campaign on behalf of the bond issue, Mabee said:

"We have pointed out that the cost to the taxpayers for this bond issue will be less than for the earlier issue—15.3 cents per hundred dollars of valuation, as compared with 17 cents per hundred in 1945.

"I cannot urge too strongly that every voter keep the welfare of the youth of the community uppermost in his mind when he marks the school bond issue ballot. If voters will do that, I am sure that the bond issue will pass splendidly, and that Mansfield will be assured of a school system that will be a credit to every resident of the city."

Russians Kill U. S. Official

Girl Companion Savagely Beaten

VIENNA —(AP)— Four Russian soldiers were blamed today for bludgeoning an American official to death and savagely beating his Austrian girl companion.

Irving Ross, 38, an official here on the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA), was found dead early yesterday in his abandoned automboile in the Soviet sector of Vienna.

Anna Sutkenina, Ross' companion, told Austrian police she and Ross were riding in the Soviet sector when four Russian soldiers stopped them near the south railway station. Two of the Russians tried to enter the car, she said, and when Ross resisted, they beat him over the head with their rifle butts.

Austrian police officials said today they had orders from district Russian headquarters that no one be allowed to visit Miss Sutkenina in Kaiser Franz Josef hospital. This applied to personal visits and "all police investigators."

U. S. Army investigators said "There are many questions to which we lack answers," including a motive for the vicious beatings.

Unofficial American sources said Miss Sutkenina was the last of a number of persons Ross was driving home from a Saturday night party.

One theory American investigators are considering is that Miss Sutkenina, described by Austrian police as an Austrian, may be a Russian native in Austria as a displaced person.

An Austrian police official described the slaying as "the most brutal I have ever seen." Police said Ross' skull had been crushed by blows and that his body bore wounds indicating he had been bayonetted. The car was spattered with blood.

Miss Sutkenina told police she jumped from the car when the soldiers attacked Ross. She was seized, however, beaten and forced back into the automobile. Later she jumped from the car again or was thrown out. Austrian police found her and took her to a hospital where doctors said she had suffered a skull fracture.

U. S. army and state department officials studied reports of Ross' slaying and said they would take no official action until all details are known.

Youth Killed Defending Girl

CARROLLTON, Ga.—(UP)—A sheriff's posse searched the fashionable country club area here today for the killer of a Georgia Tech student who was shot to death while protecting his girl companion from a would-be rapist.

The body of Carl Stevens, Jr., 22-year-old Tech student home for the weekend, was found near the new Sunset Hills country club late last night shortly after his girl friend stumbled into a nearby house and reported the attack.

Labor Uses $1,000,000 In Campaign

Sum Spent In T-H Foe Fight

WASHINGTON —(INS)—Organized labor has spent at least one million dollars to defeat members of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley law and to elect its friends.

Financial statements on file today with the house clerk listed expenditures in the 1948 campaign totaling $934,740 by 11 labor organizations.

The sum did not include funds spent by numerous state and local labor committees, which were not required to file statements of their expenditures. These additional funds undoubtedly brought to more than one million dollars labor's financial efforts in the 1948 campaign, although the total amount probably will never be known.

The labor organizations, which included the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor, concentrated upon electing or defeating, candidates for Congress, with little attention being devoted to the presidential candidates.

Chief beneficiaries were Democratic candidates for the House and Senate, although some Republicans regarded as pro-labor also received financial support.

The CIO Political Action committee spent the largest sum in the campaign. Its report for the period ending Oct. 27 listed its expenditures at $446,832, leaving the PAC a deficit of $83,537.

The AFL's League for Political Education was next with $270,819 for the same period. Unlike the PAC, the AFL organization boasted a balance of $15,262.

Next came the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union (AFL), headed by David Dubinsky. Its campaign committee spent $131,348, leaving a balance of almost $50,000 still to be expended.

Drive Heads Optimistic

With only $107,506 reported at noon today in the Community Chest's drive for $122,635, Chest leaders said they still believe the drive has a fighting chance to go over the top if all workers continue to cooperate.

The Blue Stars unit reported $56,705 and the Red Feathers unit $50,801.

Chest workers were starting to check all unreported prospect cards this morning, and said that they expect to raise $8,000 more from industry before the drive ends Nov. 5.

James McConnell, head of the Red Feathers unit, said he is confident his group will make their quota of $58,080. The construction division which reported $3,990 on a quota of $4,000 was expected to complete its quota today.

Printer Named To Labor Dept.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman has reached into the printers' union to fill one of the three top-level vacancies in the labor department. The White House announced yesterday the appointment of Ralph Wright, 45, as assistant secretary. Wright has been a linotype operator on various New York newspapers and an official of the International Typographers union.

Precinct Staffs Boosted

Polls to Open At 6:30 Tuesday

Richland county election officials were getting ready today to handle the biggest flood of votes ever cast in the county.

Unless extremely bad weather interferes, at least 37,000 ballots will be cast tomorrow in the presidential election in the county, election board spokesmen predicted. Light rain has been forecast for tomorrow.

Ballots and other supplies were distributed today to presiding judges in the county precincts.

Because of the anticipated record vote, two sets of voting officials will be on duty in Precincts G and M of the First ward and D and E of the Second ward.

The polls will open at 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m. However, voters waiting in line at closing time will be permitted to cast their ballots.

Richland county voters will ballot on presidential, district, state and most county offices. There are 11 bond issue and tax levy proposals.

In Mansfield, voters will ballot on a $2,250,000 school bond issue, a $500,000 sewer improvement bond issue, and a proposal to give police and firemen a raise in pay.

Voters in a number of school districts in the county will ballot on bond issue proposals or tax levy resolutions.

COSTS UP

Cost of handling tomorrow's election is up, compared to previous years. Principally, that's because of an increase in the pay of precinct workers, as provided by state law, county officials said.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said salaries for the workers in the 97 precincts will total $7,303, compared with $4,895 for the primary.

City, county and state offices all will close at noon tomorrow, including the city and county buildings, the Ohio State Employment service, the aid for the aged office and the state industrial commission. All banks will close also at noon.

The post office and social security office will remain open all day.

The state liquor store will be closed all day, and bars will serve nothing but 3.2 beer until one hour after the polls close at 6:30 p. m.

Board officials cautioned today that only an X may be used to mark ballots. Any other kind of mark will invalidate the ballot.

The X's must be in the space reserved for that purpose.

In the presidential ballot, the X must be either at the top in the circle or in the rectangle to the left of the Republican or Democratic candidates. However, in voting for Wallace, an X must be placed before each of the 25 names in the column headed "Independent Candidates."

If that ballot is not to be invalidated, the voter must remember to mark only one column, Democratic, Republican, or the 25 rectangles before the "Independent Candidates" column.

Board officials have instructions from the secretary of state to count the presidential, district, state and judicial precinct returns in that order.

Both parties will have transportation available to take persons to vote who otherwise would be unable to get to their voting places.

Rain Seen For Tuesday

Richland countians probably will go to the polls in the rain tomorrow.

The weatherman said today that dreary skies and rain are in prospect for tomorrow. Rain, however, is not expected to be heavy.

Light showers fell in Mansfield yesterday and last night. The mercury remained in the 50's.

The weatherman said the fog and murky conditions here and elsewhere across the country are due to stagnant pressure areas. There has been little wind and the pressure areas have moved slowly, permitting fog to form.

BOSTON—(AP)—Boston university, which has lost one game, ground out its fifth consecutive football victory yesterday by downing injury-weakened, but scrappy Syracuse, 12-7, before a skimpy 7,257 homecoming day crowd at Fenway park.

Bromfield's New Novel At Library

Washington Biography Also Available

Louis Bromfield's latest novel, "The Wild Country," is one of 19 new books which is available at the Mansfield Public library.

The book is the sensitive story of a young boy who spent his early years on his grandfather's lonely, secluded farm.

Bromfield tells of the boy's disillusionment when he goes to Paris and meets his grandmother, of her return to the farm home and her reconciliation with his grandfather.

INTRUDER IN THE DUST is William Faulkner's first novel in eight years. A negro is held in a Mississippi jail, charged with the murder of a white man. While a mob assembles, evidence proving his innocence, is gathered by two 16-year-old boys, one white and one Negro, and an elderly aristocratic spinster. Faulkner presents his story as a parable for the South.

BRIDE OF FORTUNE, by Harnett Kane, is an historical novel based on the life of Varina Davis, wife of Jefferson Davis. It is an appealing story of an ideal marriage, full of intimate details about the president of the Confederacy and about his career. It gives a sympathetic picture of the South and Washington in the Civil War Period.

Other fiction:

LIFE STORY, by Bentley; SECRET THREAD, by Vance; RED CHAIR WAITS, by Huggins; SHOES FOR MY LOVE, by Leslie.

Volumes I and II of Douglass Southall Freeman's projected six-volume GEORGE WASHINGTON introduces what promises to be the definite biography of America's first president. Volume I describes his Virginia background, boyhood and youth, experiences as surveyor, and baptism of fire in the French and Indian war. At the end of volume II, a well-integrated, and respected citizen-soldier, as well as a complex, ambitioius, and humorless man, he is about to marry Martha Custis.

DESTINATION PALESTINE: THE STORY OF THE HAGANAH SHIP EXODUS is an eye witness account of this tragic journey by Ruth Gruber, a correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune. The Exodus manned by a volunteer crew sailed from France to Haifa to France and finally to Hamburg. Some of her individual stories of the DP's themselves are filled with a heroism associated only with legends of the past.

MADE IN AMERICA, by John A. Kouwenhoven, is substitled "The Arts in Modern Civilization." The author explores the interaction of two influences on American life and arts; the cultivated European tradition and the vernacular American tradition. He sets up a new criteria for judging American architecture, painting, literature, music and life in general. There is an introduction by Mark Van Doren.

PRESIDENTIAL SWEEPSTAKES, by Henry Luther Stoddard, is a good reporter's account of our political conventions and campaigns. Many of the conventions described, the author covered for his paper. Stoddard died in his mid-eighties, before his book was quite finished.

Science Seeks to Slash Baby Mortality In U. S.

(Reprinted From Sunday Edition)

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE, AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK—(AP)—Each year in this country nearly 150,000 babies are born dead, or live only a few weeks.

Each year, by conservative estimate, at least 400,000 women lose their babies by miscarriage.

These are greater losses in human life than the annual toll from heart disease, cancer, or any other single disease. In most cases medical science doesn't know why they occur, or how to prevent them.

Another 300,000 children are never even conceived, because one out of every 10 couples in the united states are sterile. Again doctors don't know why, most of the time, nor how to overcome it.

Reasearch studies now are beginning in a new program to learn more about the reproductive process in humans. From it may come the knowledge to prevent much of this waste of human life.

The program is directed by the committee on human reproduction of the national research council. It was formed more than a year ago under a contract with the national committee on maternal health.

The maternal health group and the planned parenthood federation of America are collaborating in raising funds for the research, with a minimum of $220,000 sought this year.

SEEK BASIC FACTS

Much of the research will seek to learn basic facts. It isn't known, for example, exactly how conception takes place, or how long the female egg remains fertilizable. The causes of spontaneous abortions aren't known, nor what the chances are that parents of one defective child will produce another, now why more males than females are conceived.

About 30,000 premature babies die each year. Prematurity is "the ninth commonest cause of death in America, and yet we are completely in the dark as to its cause," the committee says.

The cause and prevention of miscarriages, it adds, must be sought "through the study of early embryonic cevelopement, possibly in the earlist stages when the pregnancy is a single fertilized cell."

The causes of stillbirths and many deaths soon after birth are connected with what happens to the baby during pregnancy, but little is known about this.

Research in the causes of sterility will investigate glandular secretions, the chemistry of male germ cells, and perhaps the psychology of married couples. Research may be undertaken on psychological factors that produce impotence in men and frigidity in women.

Studies also are planned on controlling fertility, and finding safe and simple controls of con[illegible]on. This is important not only in child spacing for health, but also in dealing with over-population in countries where there isn't enough food.

The committee is composed of 14 scientists, including four biologists, one psychologist, a sociologist, an expert in public health, and seven physicians representing psychiatry, gynecology, obstetrics, the reproductive disorders of the male, and internal medicine. The chairman is Dr. Howard C. Taylor, Jr., Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the college of physicians and surgeons, Columbia University.

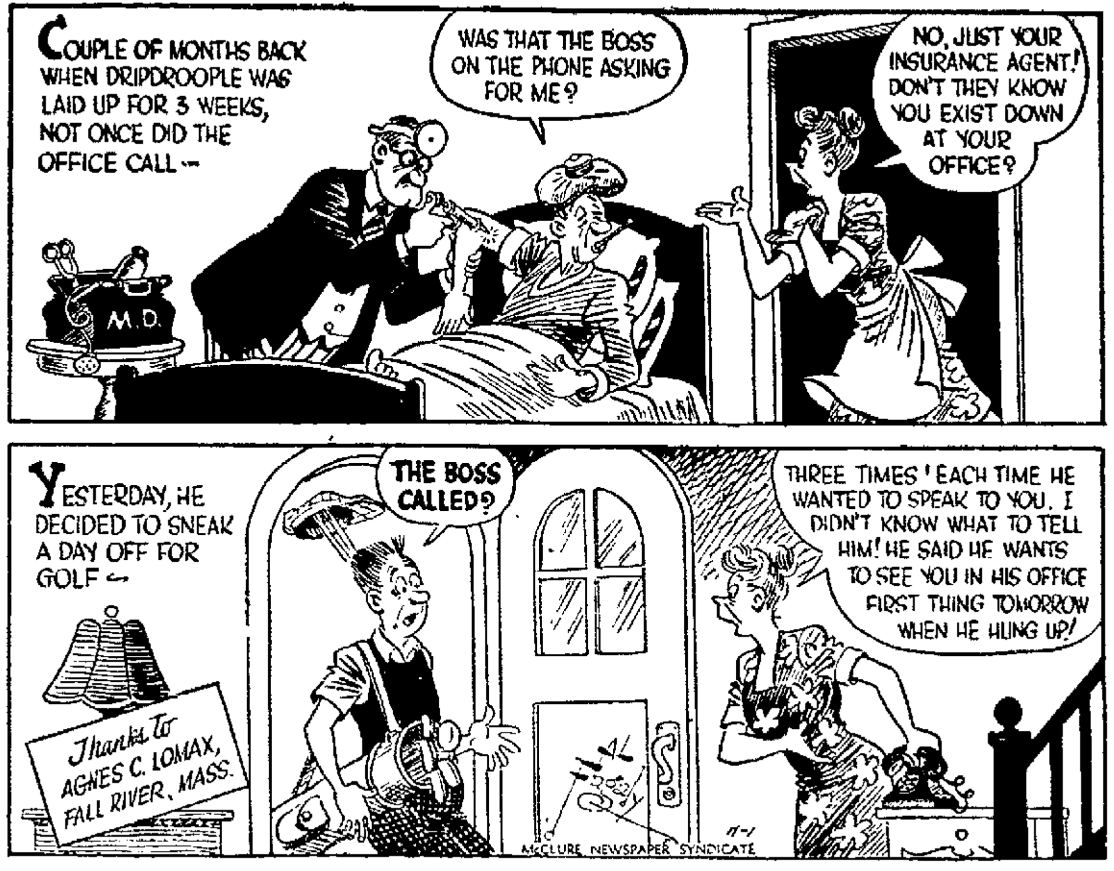
THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

By Fagaly and Shorten



COUPLE OF MONTHS BACK WHEN DRIPDROOPLE WAS LAID UP FOR 3 WEEKS, NOT ONCE DID THE OFFICE CALL—
WAS THAT THE BOSS ON THE PHONE ASKING FOR ME?
NO, JUST YOUR INSURANCE AGENT! DON'T THEY KNOW YOU EXIST DOWN AT YOUR OFFICE?

YESTERDAY, HE DECIDED TO SNEAK A DAY OFF FOR GOLF—
THE BOSS CALLED?
THREE TIMES! EACH TIME HE WANTED TO SPEAK TO YOU. I DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO TELL HIM! HE SAID HE WANTS TO SEE YOU IN HIS OFFICE FIRST THING TOMORROW WHEN HE HUNG UP!

Bromfield's New Novel At Library

Washington Biography Also Available

Louis Bromfield's latest novel, "The Wild Country," is one of 19 new books which is available at the Mansfield Public library.

The book is the sensitive story of a young boy who spent his early years on his grandfather's lonely, secluded farm.

Bromfield tells of the boy's disillusionment when he goes to Paris and meets his grandmother, of her return to the farm home and her reconciliation with his grandfather.

INTRUDER IN THE DUST is William Faulkner's first novel in eight years. A negro is held in a Mississippi jail, charged with the murder of a white man. While a mob assembles, evidence proving his innocence, is gathered by two 16-year-old boys, one white and one Negro, and an elderly aristocratic spinster. Faulkner presents his story as a parable for the South.

BRIDE OF FORTUNE, by Harnett Kane, is an historical novel based on the life of Varina Davis, wife of Jefferson Davis. It is an appealing story of an ideal marriage, full of intimate details about the president of the Confederacy and about his career. It gives a sympathetic picture of the South and Washington in the Civil War Period.

Other fiction:

LIFE STORY, by Bentley; SECRET THREAD, by Vance; RED CHAIR WAITS, by Huggins; SHOES FOR MY LOVE, by Leslie.

Volumes I and II of Douglass Southall Freeman's projected six-volume GEORGE WASHINGTON introduces what promises to be the definite biography of America's first president. Volume I describes his Virginia background, boyhood and youth, experiences as surveyor, and baptism of fire in the French and Indian war. At the end of volume II, a well-integrated, and respected citizen-soldier, as well as a complex, ambitioius, and humorless man, he is about to marry Martha Custis.

DESTINATION PALESTINE: THE STORY OF THE HAGANAH SHIP EXODUS is an eye witness account of this tragic journey by Ruth Gruber, a correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune. The Exodus manned by a volunteer crew sailed from France to Haifa to France and finally to Hamburg. Some of her individual stories of the DP's themselves are filled with a heroism associated only with legends of the past.

MADE IN AMERICA, by John A. Kouwenhoven, is substitled "The Arts in Modern Civilization" The author explores the interaction of two influences on American life and arts; the cultivated European tradition and the vernacular American tradition. He sets up a new criteria for judging American architecture, painting, literature, music and life in general. There is an introduction by Mark Van Doren.

PRESIDENTIAL SWEEPSTAKES, by Henry Luther Stoddard, is a good reporter's account of our political conventions and campaigns. Many of the conventions described, the author covered for his paper. Stoddard died in his mid-eighties, before his book was quite finished.

Other non-fiction:

PURCHASING, by Heinritz; THE SOUTH, NEW AND OLD, by Simpkins; WAYS OF FISHES, by Schultz; PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD by Alexander; NEW HOUSES FROM OLD, by Hawkins, INSURANCE AND YOUR SECURITY, by Gilbert; HOW MUCH AND HOW MANY, by Bendick; TRAPPING, by Van Clever & McCracken

Science Seeks to Slash Baby Mortality In U. S.

(Reprinted From Sunday Edition)

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE, AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK—(AP)—Each year in this country nearly 150,000 babies are born dead, or live only a few weeks.

Each year, by conservative estimate, at least 400,000 women lose their babies by miscarriage.

These are greater losses in human life than the annual toll from heart disease, cancer, or any other single disease. In most cases medical science doesn't know why they occur, or how to prevent them.

Another 300,000 children are never even conceived, because one out of every 10 couples in the united states are sterile. Again doctors don't know why, most of the time, nor how to overcome it.

Reasearch studies now are beginning in a new program to learn more about the reproductive process in humans. From it may come the knowledge to prevent much of this waste of human life.

The program is directed by the committee on human reproduction of the national research council. It was formed more than a year ago under a contract with the national committee on maternal health.

The maternal health group and the planned parenthood federation of America are collaborating in raising funds for the research, with a minimum of $220,000 sought this year.

SEEK BASIC FACTS

Much of the research will seek to learn basic facts. It isn't known, for example, exactly how conception takes place, or how long the female egg remains fertilizable. The causes of spontaneous abortions aren't known, nor what the chances are that parents of one defective child will produce another, now why more males than females are conceived.

About 30,000 premature babies die each year. Prematurity is "the ninth commonest cause of death in America, and yet we are completely in the dark as to its cause," the committee says.

The cause and prevention of miscarriages, it adds, must be sought "through the study of early embryonic cevelopement, possibly in the earlist stages when the pregnancy is a single fertilized cell."

The causes of stillbirths and many deaths soon after birth are connected with what happens to the baby during pregnancy, but little is known about this.

Research in the causes of sterility will investigate glandular secretions, the chemistry of male germ cells, and perhaps the psychology of married couples. Research may be undertaken on psychological factors that produce impotence in men and frigidity in women.

Studies also are planned on controlling fertility, and finding safe and simple controls of con[illegible]on. This is important not only in child spacing for health, but also in dealing with over-population in countries where there isn't enough food.

The committee is composed of 14 scientists, including four biologists, one psychologist, a sociologist, an expert in public health, and seven physicians representing psychiatry, gynecology, obstetrics, the reproductive disorders of the male, and internal medicine. The chairman is Dr. Howard C. Taylor, Jr., Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the college of physicians and surgeons, Columbia University.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

One of Four Top U. S. Generals Will Head 7-Power Alliance

French Ask U. S. Head For Pact

Gen. Marshall First Choice

WASHINGTON —INS— Top military and diplomatic sources indicated today that one of four American general will lead a seven-power North Atlantic defensive alliance against Communism.

The four are General of the Army George C Marshall now secretary of state; Gen J Lawton "Lightning Joe Collins, vice chief of staff Gen Mark Clark, commander of the Sixth army, and Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith ambassador to Russia

The seven-power alliance is still in the planning stage Five European nations—Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—have formed a western European union, with the tacit blessing of the United States.

These five nations have now asked the U. S. and Canada to join, and official sources hold little doubt that the seven-power alliance will definitely develop.

British Field Marshal Sir Bernard Law Montgomery is now military leader in the five-power union, but he was named over the protests of the French, unofficially voiced by Gen Charles De Gaulle

As a result a French general was made second in command to Montgomery

But the French have indicated they would prefer an American general should the United States join the pact The other nations are reported to have agreed.

Marshall was the first general suggested because of his experience as chief of staff during the war and as secretary of state He still is an outstanding candidate, but he has reached retirement age, and was called out of retirement for his diplomatic duties.

Collins is a comparatively young officer who has risen fast in the military field A division and then a corps commander during the war, he is noted for his repeated success in offensive battle and for his brilliant tactics

Chief of Staff Gen Omar Bradley is a possibility, but most observers believe he will be retained to direct U S forces

GOP HOUSE

There is no question about a Republican House. However, the GOP may have a smaller majority than in the current House Best estimates indicate the GOP will control it by between 35 and 55 votes with about ten House seats, which can go either way, determining the final outcome

In the Senate, the exact outcome is much more doubtful except that the Republicans cannot get less than a 48-48 tie. This would enable the next vice president, Earl Warren, casting a decisive vote to break all ties, even on the question of organizing the Senate.

The Republicans have 33 holdover senators and elected Margaret Chase Smith in Maine last September They appear certain of electing fourteen Republicans Tuesday

An Open Letter to Citizens of Mansfield

Mansfield, Ohio
November 1st, 1948

Mr. Dear Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield:

As every public-spirited citizen realizes, two departments essential to the welfare of any community are a well-trained and equipped Police and Fire Department. To maintain these departments requires personnel of the highest standing, of good moral character and, at least, an average education. To obtain such personnel there must be some inducement—at least a living wage.

One of the main requirements for all members of these two departments is that the members must be well dressed and neat appearing at all times. In the City of Mansfield the Police and Firemen are required to purchase and maintain their own uniforms. Because the cost of these uniforms has almost tripled in the past several years, this requirement adds weight to the already heavy burden of higher living costs.

The Mansfield Police and Fire Departments have always maintained a fine reputation with other mutual organizations in the State of Ohio. All members of these departments pledge to keep this standing for the City of Mansfield.

We are asking you—the Citizens of Mansfield—to help us maintain this record. We will appreciate your support and VOTE for the POLICE and FIREMAN'S SALARY ORDINANCE.

Nov. 2nd, 1948

Sincerely Yours,

Police and Firemen's Salary Ordinance Committee

Conservation Leaders Laud Dr. Sears' Work

BUCYRUS — Ohio conservation leaders honored Dr. Paul B. Sears, Bucyrus native and now chairman of the botany department at Oberlin college, in a ceremony conducted at Dr. Sears' 259-acre farm, located five miles southwest of here.

A certificate "in recognition of outstanding forestry practice" was presented to Dr. Sears, who is widely known as an author of several books on conservation, by Dr. Edmund Secrest, director of the Ohio experiment station at Wooster.

Additional conservation officials attending the public dedication ceremony included Tom Kennard, state director of soil conservation service, and Dr. H. C. Ramsower, director of extension service at Ohio State university The ceremony was in charge of representatives of the Ohio Forestry association and the Ohio Division of Forestry.

Three years ago Dr. Sears turned over the 65-acre woods on his farm to the Wooster station, which marked it for harvest cut, improvement and cultural measures. Special precautions were taken to prevent damage by grazing, fire, insects and disease.

The Sears' farm is managed by the Farm Management corporation, of Irwin, O., with the actual farming being done by tenants.

Recruiting Site In Bucyrus Hit

BUCYRUS — Location of a U. S. Army recruiting station building on the Public Library yard drew sharp criticism today from Fire Chief William F. Mader

Chief Mader said location of the small wooden building is in direct violation of the city's fire zone ordinance, which prohibits the erection of frame buildings within the downtown area.

Master Sgt. Woodrow Kirkpatrick, local recruiting officer, said he had written approval of Mayor R L Hertzer and the library board for the building's erection The building was brought here from Marion and placed on the library yard several weeks ago. Previously the recruiting station had been located in the municipa lwaterworks office

Taft Blasts Truman Way

Defends Work Of Congress

BUCYRUS — A strong defense of the work of the 80th Congress and a bitter attack on the Truman administration was made Saturday night by Senator Robert P. Taft at a Republican rally held on Washington Square here.

The senior Ohio senator said he expects no war with Russia but declared "we must end the wobbly nature of the Truman foreign policy—he's reversed himself five times on the Palestine question alone."

"Harry Truman doesn't know what liberty is—all he is interested in is expanding the power of the federal government until it absorbs all governmental functions," charged Taft.

Republican candidates for county offices were introduced by W. M. King, former Galion mayor. Cong. Frederick C. Smith presented Senator Taft and Attorney O. H. Hilborn of Tiro. Crawford county Republican chairman, was master of ceremonies.

More than 200 county Republican workers attended a dinner at the Elks home here, preceding the rally.

Guard Your 'Right' To Vote!

TOMORROW IS THE DAY! All through recent months—in fact for the past year—the 1948 presidential election has been in the background of thought at all times, and during the past few weeks millions of Americans have devoted their principal thinking to this subject.

This has been a peculiar campaign, on the national level, due to the variety of issues that have had a part in influencing the attitude of voters and in the determination with which both major contenders for the presidency have pursued a course of strenuous campaigning all over the country.

Custom requires that no new issues be injected into the campaign by either party on this day preceding election, and whatever may be said tonight in behalf of either of the candidates will be no more than a summing up of what has already been said, or an urgent appeal to Americans to VOTE.

Considering the high esteem in which the "right to vote" is held by a vast majority of Americans—and how bitterly they would fight to retain this right—it seems strange that urging should be needed to assure a record-breaking vote this year.

No more momentous period in American history can be turned to than that which looms for the years just ahead, and it is a solemn thought that tomorrow's voting will play a considerable part in determining what these future years are to bring, not only in international relations but also in the betterment of domestic affairs.

Ohioans are to choose a governor to serve them during the next two years, the choice resting between re-election of the present Republican chief executive, Thomas J. Herbert, or the return of a former Democratic governor, Frank J. Lausche, to that office.

Other important state offices are also to be filled; there are contests for two places on the state supreme court and one for the court of appeals; a district congressman and congressman-at-large are to be elected; also a state senator and representative in the legislature, and Richland county officials.

Three issues to be voted upon in Mansfield may well be regarded as of sufficient importance to bring out a large vote in this city, and, all in all, it would seem that no man or woman in this community who is eligible to vote would let anything stand in the way of going to his or her precinct polling place tomorrow between the hours of 6:30 a. m. and 6:30 p. m., and marking all six of the ballots received.

AGAIN IT IS SAID—VOTE AS YOU CHOOSE . . . BUT VOTE!

Are 'Entangling Alliances' Advisable?

IT IS NOW decided that the Western Union in Europe will make a formal proposal to the United States and Canada that these two Western Hemisphere nations enter a military security agreement with the union of five European nations. The political groundwork for some such pact already has been laid in Canada. But in this country public discussion of the possibility has been hardly more than casual, and the proposed treaty will come before the Senate with the impact of a new idea.

The United States has never entered, in time of peace, agreements committing American forces to war for the defense of another nation. The Monroe Doctrine, while it achieved much the same result as far as other American nations were concerned, did not have the sweeping force of a mutual defense treaty. Such treaties are among the "entangling alliances" which past United States policy has rejected.

A treaty committing the United States to go to war under specific future circumstances is not constitutionally possible. A treaty could be entered, however, under which the government would be bound to regard attack against another nation as an attack against the United States. If such a situation occurred under a treaty, the Congress then would decide whether war or military action were justified.

Responsibility of Parent Unions

A QUESTION of considerable significance in the field of labor relations was decided by the National Labor Relations Board when it ruled on a point of the responsibility of parent unions for the acts of local unions under the Taft-Hartley law. The board said that the parent union is jointly responsible with the local for picket line violence if a parent union agent was present and made no effective effort to prevent the violence, whether or not he had any part in it.

The possible applications of this decision are broad, and it might have unpredictable effects on the whole matter of the relationship of national and international unions to local labor affairs.

Pronouncements on behalf of both major political parties in pre-election campaigning seem to indicate that a review of the Taft-Hartley act is definitely on the schedule for the next Congress. But a review made so soon will probably not be accepted as final, as there seem to be many ramifications of the law which have not yet been explored.

Railroader Foresees Atomic Power

WATCHING a concrete time capsule, proof against even atomic bombs, being buried at the site of Chicago's first railroad depot, R. L. Williams, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, predicted that when the capsule is opened a hundred years hence railroad trains will be moving 800 miles an hour under atomic power.

Rather than term this prediction fantastic, we reflect that in 1848, when the first west-bound train pulled out of Chicago, the speed of present-day trains would have seemed like a foolish dream.

Suppose some dictator were in position to order you NOT to vote tomorrow—my, how you would fight your way to the polling place!

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Dewey Landslide; GOP to Control Senate

WHILE the business of this column is not prediction, it may be of interest to record on the eve of the election a few personal conclusions. These are based on nation-wide travels, with stop-over visits in almost every state in which any doubt exists about the outcome of the national election.

It is easy to predict the election of Governor Dewey. The confident tone of President Truman and his attacks on polls can be discounted. There can be no doubt about the outcome.

Last-minute checks indicate a progressively increasing sweep for Dewey and Warren. The pollsters, in fact, are scrambling to raise their earlier and more conservative estimates of Dewey's percentage of the votes. This in recognition of a tested political principle that a candidate who is generally regarded as winning accelerates his gains progressively toward the very end of the campaign.

Dewey's plurality will run beyond most predictions, even beyond the 3,000,000 guess of Manager Herbert Brownell. It will be nearer 5,000,000.

Wallace will be lucky to get 2,000,000 votes.

In the electoral college, Thurmond will receive a maximum of 40 votes; Truman, a maximum of 115; Dewey, a minimum of 375.

In the House there are now 243 Republicans, with a few vacancies. It is reasonable to suppose with a Dewey electoral sweep that this number will rise, perhaps to 260.

* * *

Senate Prospects.

IN THE Senate, a last-minute survey makes it clear that the obstacles now in sight make Democratic control almost impossible.

If the four states, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Wyoming and West Virginia — in which Democrats have seemed to have a good chance to unseat Republicans—are given to the Democrats, their minority would rise to a bare majority of 49.

But even if, on the morning after election, they seem to have elected that number, their control would be doubtful. For it is almost certain that Johnson of Texas would be barred until his qualifications had been determined. That would bring the vote to 48-47.

If it is impossible to bring Senator Wagner to Washington because of his precarious health, and that is likely, the Democratic vote would sink to 47—provided, of course that all Republicans stay alive and well enough to appear. In case of a tie, the old organization holds over, and Warren will arrive on January 20 with another vote.

But giving the Democrats four Republican seats and the two or three doubtful Democratic seats represents the maximum of Democratic optimism.

It gives the Democrats all seats which now look very close. Those states are Wyoming, West Virginia, Montana and New Mexico. There is also some doubt about Tennessee.

With a big Dewey landslide, it is hard to believe that the Democrats could carry all these five doubtful and semi-doubtful states. One or two of them would definitely swing the balance. And last-minute reports show that Republican chances in Montana, Wyoming and West Virginia are growing brighter.

The Wyoming and West Virginia ballots encourage straight voting, and Dewey is leading in the polls in both states. Lewis' United Mine Workers' organization is for Dewey in West Virginia; and while it is also for the Democratic candidate for senator, straight voting will greatly help the whole Republican ticket there.

This reporter would not be surprised if 51 Republicans appear in the new Senate, with only 44 Democrats answering to the first roll call. He would certainly be surprised to see the Democrats organize the Upper House.

Washington Calling

West's Power Shortage

By MARQUIS CHILDS

AN EXCHANGE of letters was made public here the other day that will serve as postscript to the presidential campaign now ending. It underscores the accusation that the Republicans have used thousands upon thousands of words to say nothing. Seldom, to paraphrase Winston Churchill, has so little been said about so much.

In September, as he was starting out on his campaign swing around the country, Gov. Earl Warren of California wrote to Secretary of Interior Julius Krug. He said he was writing in accord with a resolution adopted by the senate of the state of California calling for a report on why a power plant had not been built by the federal government in California's Central Valley.

The resolution sought information on a particular standby generating plant that had been projected by the Bureau of Reclamation to cover emergencies.

For nearly a year California has been suffering the most acute power shortage in its history, necessitating the most drastic economies to keep essential services going.

Warren's letter gave Krug a perfect opening. He replied in considerable detail, supplemented by a memorandum from Reclamation Commissioner Michael Strauss, that the bureau had asked for funds for such a plant and had been turned down by the 80th Congress.

Studies made by reclamation engineers had shown that periods of drought could be expected in the Central Valley. At such times the demand for power would be particularly heavy, since farmers in the valley would have to use extra power to pump water from deep wells.

All this was carefully explained to congressional committees not once but at least a half dozen times. For the current fiscal year the bureau asked $200,000 to prepare plans and specifications for a steam plant, but each time the bureau asked for funds powerful opponents appeared to stop the plan.

They were the representatives of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., which has long exercised great political influence on the West Coast.

"During 1946," Krug said in his letter to Warren, "Mr. James B. Black, president of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., testified that there is no power shortage, there has been none, and there will be none in the future. Everyone knows what happened in the early part of 1948 when the Central Valley experienced one of the most acute power shortages in its history and in the nation. Certain industrial plants, chemical plants in particular, had to curtail or stop production, irrigation pumping had to be curtailed at the very time when additional water was required from subsurface sources, and many other activities were curtailed or seriously affected."

* * *

Already Known.

THESE facts were, of course, perfectly well known to Warren. In calling on Krug for information, he was merely going through the form required by the action of the California senate.

Warren's knowledge goes far beyond the earnest sentiments he uttered in the course of his friendly campaign visit to 32 states. He himself is a firm believer in the public development of western resources. But he is aware of the forces seeking to prevent that development or to channel it in a limited way to serve private interests.

This was probably behind Warren's recent statement putting his running mate, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, on the record behind multipurpose power projects and the construction of public transmission lines to carry publicly generated power. Warren said that Dewey had expressed to him personally these views.

The GOP presidential candidate has been considerably less specific during the campaign. He came closest to defining his position on public power during a press conference when his campaign train was moving into the West. He said then that he was for the "postage stamp plan," whereby power is carried over public transmission lines for any distance, long or short, for the same charge.

It is good to have Warren, and through him Dewey, on the record so specifically on this issue that is vital not merely to the West but to the whole nation. In the past Warren has shown that he believes in living up to his pledges.

There are still, however, many unanswered questions. Fine talk about public power means nothing unless the consumer actually gets the benefits. Warren may have to fight to make good on his pledge. It will be a major test of his role in Washington.

Father Tries to Explain to His Daughter

By DREW PEARSON

Editor's Note—Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his daughter on the question of how she should vote.)

* * *

Mrs. George Arnold,
Los Angeles, Calif.
Dear Daughter:

It is difficult, even for an old and seasoned political hand like your father, to advise one who will vote for the first time.

Sometimes a seasoned political observer tends to size up an election the same way a couple of doctors discuss an important surgical operation. They become so immersed in the technicalities that they forget the patients are human beings, and that elections are a clash between several million human beings to pick another human being as their leader.

As a technician I would say that Governor Dewey had conducted one of the most astute and skillful campaigns in recent years. He made nobody mad. He called no names; he answered no challenges.

He ignored a great many of the issues. He knew that he was certain to win if he made no mistakes and aroused no tempers. So his whole campaign was carefully geared to that end.

Dewey even managed to escape answering a question every other candidate has had to answer, namely, place his war record before the voters. However, he managed to duck this, even though Mrs. Mathilda Burling, head of the Gold Star Mothers, specifically asked him in a telegram if he had a farm deferment in 1942.

Even one of Dewey's Republican women's committee members in 1944, Miss Dorothy Frooks, addressed three inquiries to Dewey regarding his draft record, but got no reply.

Governor Dewey also managed to visit most of the 48 states and make several hundred speeches without any real discussion of the basic issues in the campaign. This, again, was astute politics. For if he had really talked about reclamation when he was in the West, he would have stepped on the toes either of the power companies or the power companies' enemies, and would thereby have lost votes on either side.

Instead he cleverly told about the large amounts appropriated for reclamation by the 80th Congress, but left out the fact that the 80th Congress also tied the money up with so many strings it was a bonanza to the big power companies.

* * *

Teamwork Under Dewey.

NATURALLY Dewey's evasion of these issues has disappointed some people. But looking at it from the political technician's point of view, a lot of corners are cut by candidates to achieve their main goal—victory. And the interesting thing to me is that Dewey was able to confine his campaign to sweetness and light without having some of these issues thrown at him by certain of our leading newspapers.

Harry Truman, of course, has walked up to the plate and taken a healthy swing at every issue. He has not ducked one curved ball. The country knows exactly where he stands, which is his chief trouble in the South.

But the country also knows that, whereas Truman's record is excellent on paper, his record of performance is inept and sometimes inexcusable.

He seems to have surrounded himself with men dedicated to the task of sabotaging all the fine things their boss stood for on paper.

On the other hand, Dewey's record in New York state has been excellent both on paper and in performance. And the men around him are Roosevelt brain-trust type dedicated to do or die for the boss and his policies.

So, undoubtedly, you'll have teamwork in the White House under Dewey. It may be very careful, sometimes cold-blooded, teamwork. There will be no fun and fireworks, none of the impulsive, sometimes courageous Trumanesque shooting from the hip.

The White House poker game will be played close to the vest and certain newspaper moguls now so hell bent for Dewey's election are going to get sore at his tightfistedness.

* * *

May Prove Miracle Man.

IN SIZING UP the candidates, however, you also have to take a look at the political parties behind them. The Republican party, since the Civil war, has drawn its financial support from the bankers, the utilities, and big business. Generally, of course, people get what they pay for, and the big GOP contributors have not expressed dissatisfaction with the results.

If Dewey can break away from this traditional GOP hookup he will be a miracle man. He is a tough little guy and, once elected, he may be able to do it. This will be the most interesting thing of all to watch.

The Democratic party in recent years has drawn the bulk of its support from the big-city populations of the North, and for that reason has been far more liberal. It is bound to remain so if it is to keep northern city support.

But the Democratic alliance with an unhappy, rebellious South has made the party exactly what Dewey said it was—confused.

Man to man, the Democratic party has better legislators in it than the Republican, both in the House and Senate. And Dewey will even be lucky to have certain Democrats defeat some of the die-hard isolationist Republicans who have been out of step with him in the past.

* * *

Will Course Be Progressive?

DURING Roosevelt's first two terms, this country saw some of the greatest social and economic reforms in half a century. They were long overdue, and the Democratic party deserves great credit for putting them across.

After January the Republican party, which claims to be the party of efficiency, will be given a chance to demonstrate this claim.

Harry Truman has put up a courageous and magnificent fight. If he had fought as hard and as effectively during all his three years he would not be in the trouble he is today.

But thanks to the combination of Dixiecrats and Wallaceites he cannot possibly win this election. He will roll up a bigger popular vote than previously expected, which will be good. For it is always bad for one party to be too cocksure and overconfident.

Meanwhile, let's hope that Tom Dewey will be as broadminded as he is tough and can bring his party back to the progressiveness of Teddy Roosevelt, Abe Lincoln and pre-Civil war days.

Well, that's how the candidates and the parties stack up. I don't know that I've given you any real advice, because it's a very confused situation. And the only thing I'm sure of is that we face one of the most interesting and important periods in our history.

Love from
YOUR FATHER.

Dixiecrats Short-Lived

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — Will the Dixiecrat party continue? While some of its leaders profess to think so, the consensus of most informed political observers contacted by this reporter on a pre-election tour of the South is that it was a one-shot, one-election party and will disappear.

Its prejudiced spirit, however, probably will continue as an influence in southern politics to some extent for some time, ready to be exploited in one place or another by recurrent demagogues.

Though the party captured regular Democratic organizations in four states for this election — Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and South Carolina — there are practical reasons to believe this is only temporary. These reasons will become valid and apparent in the result of the national election.

In the first place, this election will remove the symbol that fired this revolt, Harry S. Truman and his civil rights program, and will transfer the symbol to the Republican party, which espouses the program and will be in a position to do something about it.

That should tend to assuage friction within the Democratic party and raise it up outside. Historically Democrats tend to forget their differences when in the minority and present a more united front.

The election also will remove the symbol of Roosevelt New Dealism, which also was Harry S. Truman, and thus eliminate the motive of the powerful interests behind the Dixiecrats who want to get rid of New Dealism and used the Dixiecrat cloak behind which to operate.

Where Franklin D. Roosevelt made only infrequent gestures on civil rights, and drew back strategically from time to time so that a successful revolt could never be stirred up against him in the South, Harry Truman gave these interests their long-awaited opportunity when he struck directly and thus raised the sensitive issue that would arouse the whole southern people.

But, while President Truman struck a very delicate chord very indelicately, many people in the South will not desert him on this account in the election, as returns will show.

Many, in fact, are very much ashamed at the nauseous spectacle the Dixiecrat movement has presented to the rest of the nation. Four states, which is all the Dixiecrats count, hardly offer the basis for a new party, nor in this election will they even constitute a balance of power which was supposed to be the Dixiecrat objective.

* * *

Based On Prejudice.

REGULAR party leaders, themselves, bear the best witness that the Dixiecrat party success this year, such as it is, is the final explosion that will end a movement long generating rather than the beginning of a chain reaction.

While regular southern leaders ran hastily for cover in the storm stirred up over the racial issue, and are still in hiding, all but a few kept out of the new party very assiduously. They have too much at stake. Their attitude is a good clue, because politicians follow the first law of nature which is self-preservation, and they usually know, from long experience, what is necessary for self-preservation.

For another thing, the Dixiecrats have no real issue on which to found a permanent party. All they have is the racial issue and our history is full of political parties that fell on such prejudice.

They offer nothing in the way of economic and social betterment in the South. To the contrary, big interests behind it would check economic and social reform.

As far "states' rights," the southern people know as well as anybody else how phony this is in this day and age. They are fully aware that it was through initiative of the federal government, not the states, that great changes for the better in the South were brought about in recent years.

In those who are crying "states' rights" also they recognize many who have spent much time in Washington trying to tap the federal till for money for things which states could not finance.

Farmer's Diary

We Are Wasting Leaves

By CALVIN A. BYERS

The trees on the windward side of the woods are the first to die. The layers of forest leaves blow away from the roots and the earth becomes depleted after many years, of the elements needed to make trees grow and remain large and strong.

At this time, every village and hamlet is veiled in blue smoke from the burning leaves which meticulous housekeepers decree shall be raked from the lawns and hauled away to the dump or burned along the curb.

To me there is something ridiculous in the sight of a lot of well-meaning folks getting mild exercise by making piles of dry leaves. Children and dogs have real fun out of it—worriers have a temporary outlet for their miseries, and old Mother Nature grins and scatters another summer's harvest.

The truth, of course, is that the leaves are needed by the land where they fall—or they would not fall. They are part of the natural way of life and to destroy them by fire is worse then useless. By far the better way would be to compost them, and use the composted earth for making rich gardens where fresh vegetables would grow to feed the families to the town. Comparatively small space is needed for a valuable garden, if someone cares enough to hoe and weed it—and the gardener always gains more than anyone else.

Earthworms feed upon dead leaves—bacteria grow among them—and foresters know that the woods replenish their own soil better than any other crop does. Decayed leaves mulch the delicate wild flowers and the wild berry stalks that yield the sweetest flavors.

I wonder why it could not become common practice for fallen leaves to be donated to children's homes, hospitals, or other worthy places where they might be composted and used for a garden to furnish food. Or, failing that, why not have the city trucks when the streets are cleaned, haul their loads of leaves to the parks and deposit them there a mulch to new forest growth?

Has anyone experimented along this line? If so, kindly write your experience to this column, will you? Perhaps we can all learn something.

House Drops Into River

OMAHA Neb (U P)—The Missouri River played a "now you see it, now you don't" trick on Rex Elwood of Omaha

Elwood owned a two-story house on the west bank of Swenson Island in the Missouri River opposite Fort Calhoun It was there one day the next day it wasn't

A tenant, Mike Lamb told Elwood he moved out when churning waters of the "Big Muddy" began nibbling at a corner of the foundation

Six months ago the river was 200 yards from Elwood's property

"Now," he said sadly "I own a good section of river bottom"

He attributed the loss to the diversion of the main channel near the head of the island.

LAMBRECHT-WELTY VOWS EXCHANGED ON SUNDAY

Formal Ceremony Solemnized Before Altar of First Presbyterian Church.

REV. DAVID N. ROLLER officiated for the double ring ceremony of Miss Alice Margaret Lambrecht and Melvin Edgar Welty, when their wedding was solemnized in the First Presbyterian church Sunday at 2 o'clock.

Vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with two beauty baskets of white flowers, ferns and palms and two seven branch candelabra lighted the scene.

Miss Lambrecht is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Boyce, R. D. 1, Mansfield, and Mr. Welty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd C. Welty, 806 Lexington avenue.

Miss Mable Zehner presided at the organ for a program of nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Joseph Henry Bradley, wore a grey satin gown with a fitted bodice. The dress had a lace yoke and long tight sleeves which came to points over her hands. The full skirt fell into a short train. The bride's shoulder length veil of grey net was held in place by a grey satin Juliet cap fastened with pearl clips. The only jewelry worn by the bride was a single strand of pearls.

Miss Lambrecht carried a front style bouquet of white mums, carnations and roses.

Mrs. Earl W. Shea, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor She wore a princess style chartreuse taffeta gown made with long net sleeves in chartreuse.

Miss Mary Alice Murphy, niece of the bride, Miss Naomi Hildebrand and Miss Billie Joe Rader, friends of the bride, served as junior bridesmaids. They were attired in gowns of aqua, yellow and pink, respectively. The gowns had very full skirts, sweetheart necklines and short period sleeves.

The matron of honor's bouquet was fashioned like the bride's. The three junior bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of white pompons and carnations. They wore coronets in their hair.

The bride's mother chose a violet blue full length crepe dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Welty wore a grey sharkskin suit with black and white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds.

Rollin Barr, close friend of the groom, served as best man.

Earl W. Shea, brother-in-law of the bride, and Earl Whitmore, friend of the groom, escorted the guests to their pews.

A reception was held at Johns park pavilion immediately following the ceremony. Seventy-five guests were in attendance. The bride's table was decorated with four white tapers and a wreath of pompons around the wedding cake. Mrs. Joseph Bradley, aunt of the bride, served as hostess at the reception.

For a honeymoon to Canada, the new Mrs. Welty wore a beige and heather striped two-piece dress with brown accessories.

After Nov. 4 the couple will be at home at 223 West Sixth street.

The bride attended St. Joseph's Academy, Rocky River, and Cleveland Heights high school. Mr. Welty graduated from Mansfield Senior high school. Mrs. Welty was formerly employed in the infants' department, Scattergoods and Sons, Incorporated. Mr. Welty is an employe of the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Homemakers Find Variety When Selecting New Furniture In City

By MARIAN WEST

JUST to get an idea of what you homemakers have to contend with when selecting furnishings, I dropped in on one of Mansfield's finest furniture houses. Comfortably lounging on a stiff-backed victorian occasional chair, the idea was born to write a series of articles on decoration—confining each to an individual room.

Your living room is the hostess of your home. It's the first thing you see as you enter and the last when you leave. (That is, if you go out the same way you came in.) Whether large or small, it should be comfortable and cheery with a distinctive design.

"Appropriate in town or country . . . graceful in small rooms . . . well suited to our way of living." House and Garden recently said of French provincial. It also noted that while it is difficult to find originals, provincial is being copied with flair, by our own manufacturers and can be found in leading stores at reasonable prices.

It has a place in decoration today alongside 18th century English, American colonial, Victorian and modern, according to the magazine.

For a town living room, rich upholstery and fine accessories bring out the urbane qualities of French provincial. In the room a pair of carved commodes flank a sofa and chairs face each other across a square marble top coffee table in a dignified, balanced arrangement.

In league with victorian decoration, French provincial appears in one room with pink, blue and lilac wallpaper and a victorian sofa. In a grouping around a piano, a provincial chest and chair is shown with 18th century English accessories, an aubusson carpet and Chinese Chippendale armchairs.

"Does it sell here?" I asked the salesman. His discordant reply was, "Hardly at all. I guess people haven't been educated to its versatility."

And it is practical in design because it's scaled for medium-sized rooms. It fits into contemporary American houses without overpowering them, and lends itself to unstudied arrangements. You can use it in town with good effect, but since it is made of sturdy, warm-textured woods, it contributes a friendly air appropriate either to town or country living.

Three small pieces displayed on the floor caught my eye—a writing table, step table and "what-not" table which can be used as a bookshelf. They appear to be warm and friendly and eager to be useful.

Another design which is shunned to a certain extent in Mansfield is modern. Moderately popular with the younger element, they are using it almost exclusively in small apartments.

It's economy of design and functional utility are adaptable to almost any decorating problem, but its beauty is particularly enhanced in a spacious and colorful background.

Arrangements can be traditional or unorthodox with sectional furniture in wide use. A lovely three-piece mahogany credenza, in blond or black, with center cabinet and additional drawer units, makes a striking attraction point.

Our room is outstandingly attractive because of color scheme. The sofa is new blue plum, chairs are carnation pink—the cocktail table is blond walnut with four drawers and a polished copper tray. Walls and carpet are warm gray, while the lamp bases are carnation pink.

A formal note has been added to new pieces through the use of metal threads in textured upholstery fabrics.

A point of interest in the modern picture is a new innovation in bed divans among which is an outstanding piece with rattan frame.

The Chinese note is predominant in this styling. Lamp shades are secured to Chinese figure bases, and cocktail tables, hand decorated in Chinese red tortoiseshell, with decorated plate glass tops—form a perfect complement to the simplicity of line in the upholstered pieces.

"We sell quite a bit of Heywood-Wakefield design, but people are squeamish about buying anything more extreme," the furniture man said. So perk-up Mansfield, and stop being so conservatively cautious. Let's get a little color and style in those living rooms.

Many wise 'middle-age' women take Pinkham's Compound regularly to help build up resistance against this distress.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, November 2.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THE auguries are most propitious for a pleasant and prosperous state of affairs, in business, social and romantic or domestic affiliations. These should be pursued with confidence in the element of personality and charm, which may prove productive when other endeavors might be negative. In financial matters, property, possessions, or employment, advantage may be found through the friendly, warm, good-natured and harmonious approach, rather than strictly a business one. Romance is emphasized under such benign rule.

Those whose birthday it is, may anticipate a particularly active and pleasant year, especially in the realm of social, domestic and professional affairs. It may be a time for the pursuit of pleasure and culture, and, as well, the friendly and gracious approach may advance business, financial and property plans. With a discreet manipulation of personality, charm, magnetism, there should be more pleasant and prosperous relations than in purely commercial or sordid tactics. Seek employment with assurance.

A child born on this day should be blessed with a warm and attractive personality, in which its cherished hopes and wishes may materialize by its charm, culture and magnetism.

SHAME was the byword . . .

SHAME tinged the cheeks of Mansfield . . .

There should have been no cause for shame. The City in which we live should be spoken of with pride—but on Thursday, Oct. 28, the shame cut deep.

Six young singers, known throughout Ohio as the Wallace Caravan, and a U.E. Organizer, were jailed because they stood in front of the Westinghouse Electric Company and told the story of the Progressive Party in song.

Among those jailed, three were VETERANS.
In denying the right to free speech, the Police Force of Mansfield also denied YOUR RIGHT TO LISTEN!

You have a right to make up your mind by listening to all sides of a question. That is the meaning behind the protection given to FREEDOM OF SPEECH by the UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION.

This action is a direct threat against YOUR CIVIL LIBERTIES!

It's your fight, too—let your city officials know that Mansfield demands the same protection of its Civil Liberties as the Constitution affords to the rest of the United States.

Vandalism Costly For Four Youths

Fined For Destroying Shocks of Fodder

While more reports of property destruction by Halloween vandals flooded the police and sheriff's offices today, Juvenile Court Judge Stuart H. Cramer turned three burned corn shocks into a very expensive Halloween prank for four Mansfield youths.

Cited before Judge Cramer today, were Vernon Reed, 19, of 545 Oakenwaldt avenue, charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors; and three 17-year-old boys, charged with delinquency.

Reed was fined $50 and costs, and each of the 17-year-old, $25 and costs apiece, making a total of $125 in fines for their vandalism.

The corn shocks were destroyed Thursday night on the farm of Robert Thom, south of Lucas.

Judge Cramer also ordered the parents of the youths to pay for the corn destroyed. The younger boys, two of whom have previous juvenile records, are residents of Wayne and Bowman streets and Warren road. Judge Cramer said Reed furnished the car which took the four to the farm where the corn was destroyed. The youths were traced through the license number of the car.

AUTO DAMAGED

Meanwhile, George Wade, Lucas, R. D. 1, reported to sheriff's deputies last night that 38 corn shocks had been torn down on his farm, and Mrs. Mayde Foulks, Fifth avenue and Ashland road, reported that the cloth top of her 1936 car had been ripped off.

Ray E. DePue, 34 Kohler avenue, said Halloween "beggars" pulled the master switch on his porch, temporarily shutting off all electricity to his home last night.

Arthur Schmidt, 252 Johns Park Entrance, reported to police last night that boys had started a paper fire on his lawn, and Fred Boss, 30 Arnold avenue, told police that oil had been thrown over his car while it was parked at Harker and Bowman streets.

Drives Truck Onto Cement

Service-Safety Director Earl T Garrison said today that the Cleveland man who drove his panel truck on the partially-cured concrete on Overlook road yesterday would not be prosecuted unless the Overlook road resident man who lodged the complaint decided to file an affidavit.

Police were summoned to the scene after the Cleveland man drove his truck around a barricade and onto the freshly-poured concrete. They spoke to the driver but did not arrest him. They returned to the scene sometime later to make an arrest, but the driver was gone.

Although the cement has hardened, it is not completely cured, and damage may show up several months from now, officials said.

'I Remember When . . .'

Torchlights Marked Political Campaigns

(Editor's Note: The following story is reprinted from yesterday's edition in which a major portion of the type was misplaced under the heading of another article.)

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Presidential campaigns "just aren't what they used to be," says Henry A. Tuttle, 91, of 73 Sherman avenue, who remembers "back in 1868" when Gen. Ulysses S. Grant ran for president.

When Tuttle goes to the polls Tuesday, he'll be voting for his 18th president. He adds with a grin that he's "won" nine elections so far on the Republican party ticket.

HENRY A. TUTTLE . . . Recalls Lively Campaigns

The country had just been through six years of strife between the states when Grant was hailed as the party's choice for the country's helm.

"Liberty poles or flag poles went up all over the country," Tuttle reminisced. "They were real poles, too, not like this sapling we've got up down here in Central park.

"The little town I lived in (Tuttle's a native of Geneva in Ashtabula county) cut down a good-sized tree and made it into a pole. They put a top mast on it and capped it with a big flag raising ceremony.

"They had a big political meeting at Jefferson, the county seat of Ashtabula county, and they gave prizes to those who would bring the most people from the townships.

"I remember my father and a neighbor hooked up a four-horse team on a wagon and took anyone who wanted to ride along. It was about 17 miles to Jefferson. And it was said in Dorset township that no one was left at home that day but an old lady who couldn't get out of her chair," he added with a chuckle.

TUTTLE STAYED HOME

"I wasn't allowed to go along. I was 11 and boys of 11 stayed home to milk the cows"

But Tuttle heard all the details from his father and "over 11" youths who were permitted to make the trip.

"The procession to Jefferson was miles long. Every once in a while a guerrilla outfit—that was an unofficial cavalry—would ride out of a field or wood and surprise the procession.

"I don't remember so much about Grant's campaign as a political campaign but I know he was elected in 1868, again in 1872 and wanted to be again in 1876—but the people wouldn't stand for that third term."

Tuttle believes the famed torchlight processions started with the Hayes campaign in 1876. He recalls how the paraders would dress in little red and black caps and capes and hold their oil lamps high in the crowds that stretched for miles.

The "real campaign" of his memory, though, was the Garfield band wagon of 1880.

"Garfield was practically my neighbor," Tuttle said. "He had been congressman from our district and about the time he ran for president he bought the big farm at Mentor where the family home is now.

'REAL CAMPAIGNING!'

"The land at the farm slopes down to the New York Central railroad tracks and during his campaign the railroad would run a special train for people who wanted to see Garfield. They'd run right up the main track, stop at the farm and the people would walk about a quarter of a mile up to the house to shake hands with Garfield.

"That was real campaigning!"

As Tuttle remembers Garfield, the 20th president of the United States "was quite a mixer."

"He'd drive his horse down to Painsville and sit on a keg of nails and chat with the fellows while his horse was shod."

When Garfield was fatally shot in the Washington depot the funeral was set for Cleveland. Tuttle attended.

"I saw all the big men of the nation there in the two days I was at the funeral — Sherman, Sheridan. Garfield's body laid in state in the square. The biggest show I've ever seen in my life I saw from a fence on Euclid avenue the day of the funeral."

Tuttle became active in political sponsorship in 1884 when James G. Blaine ran on his party's platform. Tuttle chuckles when he recalls the grey top hats the "Blaine of Maine" club members wore in keeping with their candidate's choice of headgear. Grover Cleveland, however, was the victor on the Democratic ticket

THINGS QUIET DOWN

"Things began to quiet down after Harrison was elected in 1888, "Tuttle continued. "The campaigns weren't as interesting as they were in the early part of the century."

The best exhibition of campaigning Tuttle saw after the Harrison administration was the Mark Hanna-directed McKinley campaign in 1896 when a thousand men were taken from the Cleveland docks and marched up Euclid avenue with dinner buckets in hand. The slogan for the procession was "full dinner buckets"

"That alone elected McKinley," Tuttle stated.

"There used to be lots of noise, lots of interest and even neighborhood fights when election year rolled around. Now, you wouldn't know there was a campaign going on. I really can't remember, in this century, a real political campaign like we used to have in the '80's and '90's."

Tuttle's had a taste of political life himself. He's pretty proud of his record of 20 years as township clerk in Perry, Lake county. And he also can boast of a school teaching career and 30 years in sales. Five years ago Tuttle came to Mansfield to make his home with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tuttle of the Sherman avenue address.

Rally Held In Bellville

Levering Heads Dem Speakers

An audience of 110 persons attended a county Democratic rally in Bellville Saturday night

Robert W Levering, Mt. Vernon attorney and the party's congressional candidate from this district, was the featured speaker.

Levering, a former war prisoner, urged the audience to check the qualifications of candidates before casting their ballots.

Levering charged his GOP opponent, Congressman J. Harry McGregor, was "clouding the real issues" by repeating that there is a threat of communism in this country. The Democratic candidate called the communist issue a "red herring."

Brief talks also were given by other Democratic candidates.

This group included Harold Lutz, candidate for prosecutor; C. L. Mitchell, candidate for county representative; County Commissioner Guy F. Stewart, Recorder D. D. Orewiler, Clerk of Courts Howard Wenning and Fred W. Dill, county commissioner candidate.

Up and Down the Street . . .

ALL A MISTAKE—

Mrs. Josephine Cheste, 40 West First street, learned Saturday night that she unknowingly refused to accept a purse containing $30 that she had lost earlier in the evening. Mrs. Cheste said she lost the purse in the vicinity of the city building while she was on a shopping trip. Letters and cards in the purse identified the owner. Soon after she arrived home she said she got a telephone call from an elderly man who asked her if she had lost her purse. Without looking in her belongings, she said she hadn't, so the man hung up. She didn't get his name. Later, she found the purse missing. It contained keys and papers in addition to the money.

Fair Or Foul . . . Believes 'Feather' Bout Fix

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—It would be a pleasure today to be able to write as an absolute fact either of two conclusions about Willie Pep's loss of the featherweight championship to Sandy Saddler.

To be able to say with conviction that Friday night's fight was dead on the level or a fix would answer the biggest question prevalent in the New York boxing business.

Published pre-fight rumors established the possibility that the works were in.

MANY RUMORS

One observer expressed the opinion that the rumors had been started by gamblers trying to balance their books with some Saddler money.

Another pointed out that rumors were so persistent that Eddie Eagan, chairman of the boxing commission, had lectured the fighters at the noon weigh-in.

Still another said that he thought Saddler had a great chance because of his height and reach and punch to win the title without any conniving.

No one agreed with this viewpoint.

Some one then pointed out that Pep had been in 136 fights and Saddler in 93 without a scandal.

LOOKED GOOD

Despite all you had heard and read, the fight appeared to be fought strictly on its merits. Saddler roughed Pep up and all but choken the champion to death with strangle holds several times in the clinches.

He whacked Pep with an early right hand that brought blood from the nose, hurt Pep in close in the second round, floored him with valid punches twice in the third and belted him out in the fourth. It appeared to be an authentic knockout.

However, on the second knockdown in the third round Pep showed marked disinclination to rise and actually Referee Buby Goldstein counted 10 before Pep had regained his feet.

He was on his way up at the time and Goldstein permitted the fight to continue. The bell soon sounded and Pep was saved until the fourth when he was counted out to the tune of a chorus of boos.

Chairman Eagan of the commission was among those who insisted the fight looked all right.

I am among those who will remain in doubt.

Schmeling Finally Quits

BERLIN—(INS)—Max Schmeling threw in the towel today.

The former world's heavyweight champion, now 43, decided to quit the ring for good after losing a 10-round decision yesterday to Richard Vogt, of Hamburg, the German light-heavyweight champion.

Schmeling was disgusted by his performance. He lost all ten rounds.

Vogt, who is 36, said today he wants a bout with England's Freddie Mills, light-heavyweight champion of the world.

Redskin Vet Gains 446 Yards In Air

(By United Press)

Slingin' Sammy Baugh, the old pass-paster, added another glittering performance to his ever growing string today as he led the Washington Redskins in their fight for first place in the eastern division of the National Football league.

Baugh clicked off four touchdown passes yesterday and broke Sid Luckman's total passing yardage mark as the Redskins scalped the Boston Yanks, 59 to 21, at Griffith stadium. In all, the 34-year-old veteran T-formation master pitched for 446 yards in 17 completions out of 24 attempts to break Luckman's mark of 433.

EAGLES HOLD LEAD

Meanwhile, the high-flying Philadelphia Eagles remained a game ahead of the Redskins after defeating the Pittsburgh Steelers, 34 to 7, at Pittsburgh. Tommy Thompson and Steve Van Buren, as usual, furnished the bulk of the Eagle scoring power. Thompson completed 16 passes in 22 attempts while Van Buren romped for 109 yards along the ground in 22 tries.

The Chicago Bears and Chicago Cards kept apace in the battle for first place in the western half of the league. The Bears powered their way past the New York Giants, 35 to 14, while the Cards had a rough time overcoming Los Angeles, 27 to 22. Young Jim Hardy, of the Rams, subbing for Bob Waterfield, had a field day in vain, completing 28 passes for 406 yards.

The Detroit Lions finally won their first game of the season by edging the once-mighty Green Bay Packers, 24 to 20. It was the first Lion victory over a western division league opponent since 1945 when the Packers also were the victims.

Miami Squad Tops In Loop

OXFORD—(UP)—Miami university topped the standings in the Mid-American football conference today with three wins and no losses or ties in conference play.

The Miamians, in the three conference tilts, rolled up 104 points while holding their opponents to 28 points.

Next in line was the University of Cincinnati, with two conference wins against no losses or ties. Cincinnati has totaled 34 points while holding its opponents to 20.

Western Michigan, with a record of one win and one loss, held the No. 3 position, followed, in order, by Ohio university (1-2) Western Reserve (1-3) and Butler (0-2).

Elected Prexy

COLUMBUS—(AP)—E. N. Littleton of Bowling Green was elected president of the Ohio Rifle and Pistol association for the 17th consecutive year yesterday.

The most accurate extra-point kicker in the college ranks is Syracuse University's George Brown. He's kicked 27 in a row over the past two seasons. His streak is still alive.

JIM GLEASON

Bellville Presents Its Own Scoring Ace, Jimmy Gleason

While Canton McKinley's Colceri and Bucyrus' Kibler twins are receiving state-wide publicity for their scoring feats, a speedy little halfback ten miles from Mansfield is steadily piling up touchdowns.

The boy in question is Jim Gleason, 155-pound left half of Coach Harry Regula's undefeated Bellville Blue Jays. Gleason a senior in his third year of football, has crossed the payoff stripe 16 times and caught two extra point-passes. His 98 point total is second in Ohio only to the 114 amassed by Colceri.

Gleason has made a number of the long runs, the most distant of which was an 80-yard jaunt against Mt. Gilead. He has an average of 170 yards per game on the ground and has thrown two touchdown passes. He also does most of the punting.

SCORING RIVAL

His only rival for scoring honors in the area is his own running mate, Bill Balliett.

Balliett, the right half has crossed the scored 13 touchdowns for 78 points. At various times he has played all backfield positions, and calls offensive signals when in the game. Identical in weight to Gleason, he has a 105-yard rushing average per game.

Balliett has one thing on Gleason. He is only a junior and will be back next year to haunt opposing grid teams.

Appleseed Grid Fete Scheduled

The annual Johnny Appleseed football banquet will be staged Thursday at 6 p. m. at the junior high school.

Parents of the city championship players will serve a covered dish dinner to the team members, coaches and guests. Appleseed defeated John Simpson for the title, 7 to 0.

Coach Jimmy Lymper will show pictures of the city crown clash as one of the fete features.

More than 1,000 students will obtain ski instruction at the Syracuse university ski school and lodge this winter.

Hot Stovers Plan State Tournaments

ALLIANCE — Two Old Timers baseball associations yesterday became affiliated with the Ohio chapter of the Hot Stove league for the promotion of junior baseball in the Buckeye state.

Cleveland and Toledo Old Timers' groups joined the Hot Stovers in yesterday's state convention here. Some 75 delegates from 25 Ohio and Pennsylvania cities attended the meeting, first of its kind. At least 10 former big leaguers were at the convention.

Promotion of state tournaments for the baseball playing youngsters was the main topic of the meeting.

Fred Tharp, sports editor of the Mansfield News - Journal was named chairman of the Ohio junior baseball committee of the Hot Stove league. Members of Tharp's committee are: Doik Navario, Cleveland, National Amateur Baseball Federation executive; Ray Grimes, Minerva, former Chicago Cubs player; Lyle Culbert, vice-president of the Toledo umpires association, and Dick Pierson Alliance YMCA physical director.

The committee will set up age and player regulations for leagues throughout Ohio. It will also draw up plans for the state competition.

At last night's banquet at the Allience Elks home, Cy Young, pitching immortal, was the guest speaker. Virgil Cory, of the Sporting News, baseball publication, pledged help of his paper to make the Ohio junior baseball program a state-wide success.

Mansfield delegates were: Tharp, Gene Hartnett, Fred Rizzo, Geiger and Stan Kamen. Tharp is president of the Mansfield Hot Stove group while Hartnett heads the junior baseball committee.

Cities represented included: Mansfield, Cleveland, Toledo, Alliance, Sunbury, Lima, Willard and Sebring. There are approximately 50 Hot Stove league chapters in Ohio.

The last time that Syracuse played a Western Conference foe on the gridiron it defeated Wisconsin, 27-20. That was in 1941.

Clevelander Wins Cycle Meet Sunday

Amateur Paul Meyers of Cleveland won everything in sight at the Mansfield Motorcycle club track yesterday—including the 1948 Ohio Tourist trophy championship.

Meyers won four of the eight races run on the abbreviated program. Amateur and expert finals were cancelled by darkness since rain had held up the starting time.

Meyers was defeated only once. Art Heck, 1947 Ohio champ, came home in front of him in the second expert qualifier. Meyers ran second in this event and pushed Heck to 3.00.2, the fastest time of the day.

Meyers rode with the experts because of winning the first amateur qualifier to fill in a hole left by the absence of one of the expert riders. He completed the eight lap state championship in 3 58.2, then took another amateur qualifier and one of the two expert qualifiers. Defending champion Heck was second in the state meet with Otmer "Two Ton" Gandee third.

Only serious accident was by Dick Dickersson of Lorain, who fell a few feet from the finish line of the novice final. He was treated at General hospital and dismissed.

The results:

State championship, 8 laps: Won by Paul Meyers, Cleveland; 2. Art Heck, Willard; 3 Otmer Gandee, Akron. Time 3:58.2

McKinley Sure Thing For Ohio Grid Crown

By JIM DAILEY

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Canton McKinley's Bulldogs headed down the home stretch of a probable undefeated season today trying on Ohio's high school football crowd for size, and only a few dissenting voices from the southwestern part of the state could be heard.

The two principal dissenters were Middletown and Hamilton, with records almost but not quite as good as McKinley's. Middletown has been tied once by Newark, and in all fairness it must be admitted that Canton's schedule was tougher than Hamilton's.

THE CANTON RECORD

Canton has defeated Warren, Cleveland Lincoln, Canton Lincoln, Toledo Scott, Steubenville and last weekend rolled over one of the chief pretenders to the mythical state title, Alliance, by a whopping 46 to 7 score.

Next weekend Bup Rearick's Bulldogs tie into another undefeated team, Lakewood, and if the latter comes off like Alliance, there won't be much doubt which of the state's outfits rightfully belongs at the top.

After Lakewood, Canton meets Youngstown Wilson and then goes over to Massillon Nov. 20 for the annual traditional game with the Tigers.

OTHERS COME THROUGH

Other good teams to come through last weekend included Gallipolis, which stretched its winning streak to 17 in a row by crushing Jackson, 33-0; Hamilton won its seventh straight by taking Portsmouth 34-12; and Toledo Waite remained unbeaten by defeating Toledo Devilbiss, 20 to 6.

Massillon, beaten two weeks ago by Alliance, walloped Warren, 39 to 14; Fostoria topped Akron East, 21 to 6; and Lima Central edged Findlay, 6 to 0.

Niles sunk Barberton, last year's champion, 13-7; Lakewood smashed Lorain, 27 to 6; and Mansfield smeared Dayton Kiser 62-7.

Games this week will see Martins Ferry at Steubenville's Big Red, Toronto at Girard, East Liverpool at Salem, Columbus Aquinas at Alliance, Columbus North at Columbus West, Mt. Vernon visiting Newark, Lancaster at Marietta, Chillicothe at Middletown, Delaware at London, Zanesville at Dover, Toledo Waite at Massillon, Hamilton Catholic at Ironton, and Marion at Mansfield.

Urbana at Kenton, Canton Timken at Hamilton, Uhrichsville at New Philadelphia, Logan at Gallipolis, Wellston at Pomeroy, Carey at Marysville, Toledo Woodward at Portsmouth, Cambridge at Coshocton, and Springfield at Lima Central.

Orrville Team Wins Trap Shoot Title

Local clubs took two of the first three places in the team trapshoot at Ohio Sportsman's Gun club yesterday but Sun Valley Gun club of Orrville won the team money.

The Orrville shotgun artists cracked 481 out of 500 birds while the host Sportsman's team came in second with 480. Mansfield Gun club broke 474.

KRAFT TAKES CUP

In the individual shooting, A. F. Kraft of Massillon took home the rotating trophy won last year by Harold Frey of Bellville. Kraft missed only one bird while Tom Nedolast of New Washington was runnerup with two misses out of the 100 16-yard targets.

Chet Beer, president of the Ohio Sportsman's was tied with four other shooters for 97 birds and third position. Deadlocked with him were H. Fengeli, Massillon, R. M. Marthey of Orrville; Gene Gurgess of Loudonville.

Frey, the trophy defender broke 94 of 100.

Cleveland Barons Tied For Second

(By International News Service)

The Cleveland Barons were back in second place of the American Hockey league's western division today, looking forward to a six-day rest before their next game.

By defeating the Pittsburgh Hornets, 3-2, at Cleveland's arena yesterday, the Barons, who play their next contest against Indianapolis Saturday, moved into a tie with the Hornets for the league's second post.

Yankee Ace Sets Up Five Touchdowns

(By United Press)

Pete Layden of the New York football Yankees, who couldn't hit American league baseball pitching last season, exhibited ample proof today that he can pass, plunge and panic the opposition in the All-America grid conference.

Layden batted only .250 with the St. Louis Browns last season but he batted .833 with the grid Yankees yesterday as he set up five of the six touchdowns that swamped the Chicago Rockets, 42 to 7.

Playing brilliantly despite the fact that his wife was undergoing a major operation at a nearby New York hospital, Layden passed for three touchdowns and ripped off long gains to set the stage for two others. He gained a total of 332 yards, surpassing teammate Spec Sanders' former record of 322 yards set last year.

Buffalo's belligerent Bills moved into a first place tie with Baltimore in the eastern division by beating the Colts, 35 to 17. Burly Chet Mutryn of the Bills put on a one-man show in the second half as he sparked Buffalo's winning drive.

Ben Agajanian, the toeless place-kicker, and Glenn Dobbs, who played only three minutes, combined to give the Los Angeles Dons a 17 to 0 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers. Agajanian kicked a 50-yard field goal, three yards short of the conference mark.

San Francisco and Cleveland, co-leaders in the western division, were idle.

No Major Grid Powers Upset

NEW YORK — (INS) — Football moved into crucial November today as all of the big teams survived the week end without a single upset.

However, such may not be the case next Saturday when Penn will be faced with the monumental task of getting by Penn State.

This one is a natural. Penn, unbeaten and untied this year, has gone through 13 games without defeat. State has been tied this season but is unbeaten in 15 games.

The Nittany Lions got a good warmup for this classic by trouncing Colgate, 32 to 13, while Penn enjoyed a 40 to 7 breeze over Washington and Lee

The Army-Stanford intersectional joust at New York will be another star attraction. Stanford has won both its games against the Cadets, and continued its swift improvement last Saturday by giving Washington a 20 to 0 paint job.

The unbeaten and untied Cadets belted V. P. I. 49 to 7 as punishment for the Southerners' temerity in picking on the Black Knights to score their first touchdown of the season.

Saturday's clash between Georgia Tech and Tennessee may furnish an excellent line on the relative merits of Tech and North Carolina, the two unbeaten and untied southern leaders.

Choo-Choo Charley Justice of the Tar Heels had to throw two touchdown passes last week to beat the Vols, 14 to 7, and the Rambling Wrecks trailed Duke at half time before spurting to a 19 to 7 win.

California was not overly impressive in beating Southern California, 13 to 7, and Michigan, unbeaten since losing to Illinois in 1946, had to go all out to gain a 28 to 20 verdict over the Illini.

Notre Dame, which is unbeaten in 24 starts and has scored in every quarter this season, crushed Navy 41 to 7. The Midshipmen, who have lost 11 straight as a result of scheduling the toughest teams in the nation, will not enjoy a "breather" this week in — you guessed it, Michigan.

Notre Dame will take it easy against a disappointing Indiana eleven which took a 30 to 7 drubbing from Minnesota.

Nevada solidified its claim to a place on the list of unbeaten and untied leaders — there are nine — by slaughtering Oklahoma City university, 79 to 13.

Northwestern qualified as the Big Nine's probably Rose Bowl representative by trouncing Ohio State, 21 to 7.

Oregon, which still has a good chance to wind up in the Pasadena classic, barely nipped St. Mary's, 14 to 13.

All-American Doak Walker was a one-man gang as Southern Methodist took over the southwest with a 21 to 6 win over Texas. Walker scored two touchdowns and passed for the other.

Georgia routed Alabama, 35 to 0, in what was supposed to be a close game. This was the Tide's worst defeat since 1910.
